Premier Warns People Beware World Tyranny

Unless the people awake to the peril of the situation and insist on the essential democratic reform of the monetary system being carried out "before it is too late" they will have themselves invited to the disaster which is looming, Premier William Abernethy declared Saturday.

He warned that the forces of evil are seeking to enslave humanity under a world tyranny. He declared that if the British Empire were destroyed there would be treated as an "intolerable situation" which "we cannot permit under any circumstances."

His statement was made in a discussion on monetary reform, the fourth and last of a series in which he has discussed this question and put forward a definite plan by which it could be carried out.

Text of his statement released Saturday is as follows:

TWO CAMPS

The world is rapidly dividing into two camps. On the one hand you have those who, believing in the principles of Christianity, support the way of life which is based on the principle of "love thy neighbor." This is the democratic concept and its foundation is individual initiative and personal freedom. On the other hand, and in contrast to the democratic concept, we have those who, moving in the pagan principles, support the way of life based upon jungle law and "the survival of the fittest." This is the totalitarian philosophy, and its foundation is regimentation of the many by the few. It is entirely materialistic.

Since the beginning of this race, the fundamental principle of human life has prevailed that mankind is expected to wrest his sustenance from nature by the exerting of his own effort, either individually or socially, either by the use of his own hands or with the aid of machinery. Furthermore he has been taught to go forward with full confidence in the bounty of Divine Providence without Whom "not a sparrow falls to the ground." "Knowing that while the earth remains, seed time and harvest, cold and heat, summer and winter shall not cease." It is only thus that we may learn to know God in spirit.

VIOLATE DIVINE LAW

To depart from these principles which are inherent in Christianity is to violate Divine Law, and in that direction lies disaster. Moreover, the only social system which conforms to these requirements is that based in democracy, for under democracy alone can the individual realize his faith in the bounty of Divine Providence, by withholding from him the God-given abundance. That is why, which are anti-Christian, can operate only through a social system involving regimentation and man-imposed rule of fear. In other words it is only by a dictatorship or a totalitarian system, that complete subjugation of the people can be maintained.

UNIVERSAL SUFFERING

Today we are reaping a harvest of universal suffering because of the policy during the past in perpetuating the forces of evil to work through a social system which imposed widespread poverty and want, while abundance was within our grasp.

These forces drive the existence of an abundance while at the same time restricting and trying to deplete it. While mankind is thus enslaved, they force the world to work in the tanks, and shut down factories. The suffering, the discontent, the strife and the hatred which this vicious system generates, has brought us to the brink of disaster. We have reached the crossroads. The old order, with all its evils, stands in the midst of ruin, having spread death and destruction in every corner of the earth. Every thinking person knows that such a system will have difficulty in surviving this terrific conflict. No wonder that everybody is talking about the new order which they hope will follow after the war.

Unfortunately, too many people today are making the terrible mistake of looking for the new order, and a new era of prosperity, to emerge from this world struggle, aside from any individual effort on their part or of any exertion of their spirit.

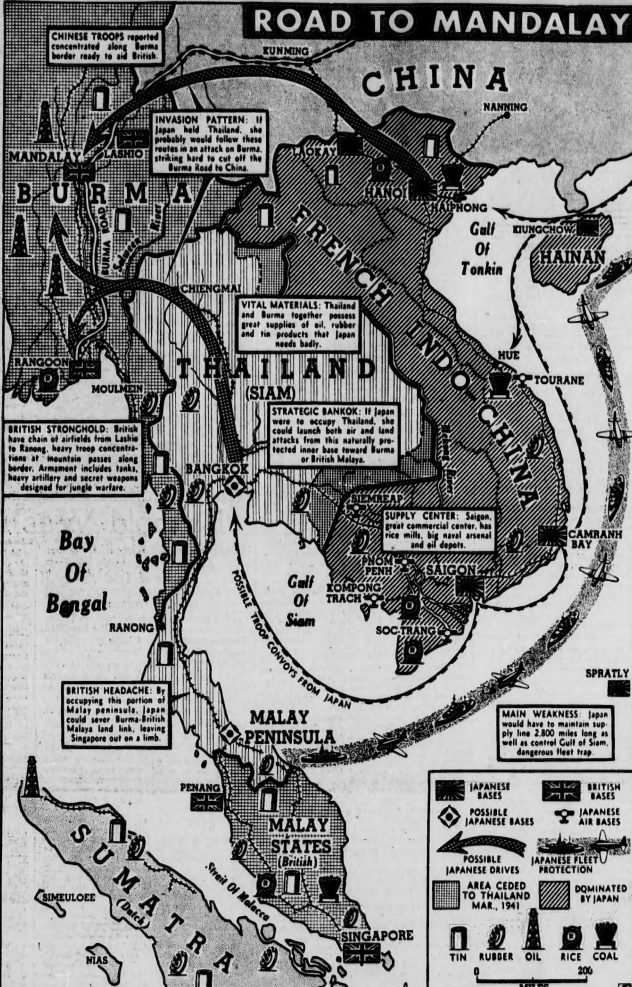

But we know that nothing in human affairs just happens. Events are invariably the result of long, slow, or fast of the quality that removes war from the earth.

PORT WAR AREA

Now the pertinent question arises, "What may we expect will come out of the tremendous problems which we face, if definite action is taken to remove the basic causes of our distress and the disaster that looms?"

Surely it is evident that the evil which beset the world would not be pressing upon us if the people of all countries had the economic security and the freedom they desire. We claim that it was discontent and despair, resulting from economic insecurity, poverty and restriction, which drove the people into Nazi-Fascism, Communism and such like. The failure of the social system to give the people the result they need led definitely to the acceptance of these totalitarian systems.

New under a proper democratic system the people must have the economic security and liberty which the slave can never have.

ATHENS.—(CDN)—In taking possession of the Ionian

Islands when occupying Greece, the Italians posted upon all the principal buildings of Cephalonia, birthplace of the late Dictator Gen. John Metaxas, large posters of Mussolini in a belligerent attitude, his jaw outstretched. This proved to be too much for the Cephalonians. When morning came, all the posters had been torn down.

The Italians fined the entire population 10 drachmas—about eight cents at the official rate of exchange—per head. The Cephalonians came obediently before the courts and paid, but some of them when summoned placed 20 drachmas upon the magistrate's desk.

"What's this for?" asked the judge. "The fine is only 10 drachmas, not 20."

"That's for tomorrow," was the reply.

and political affairs of Europe along similar lines. Now would be prevented if Japan formed the same type of new order in the Orient and Russia followed suit in northern Eurasia? We would be simply making fishing grounds out of belligerent tigers, with the voice of the people being entirely silenced.

POWER CORRUPTS

"All power tends to corrupt, absolute power corrupts absolutely." So said the British peer, Lord Acton. The central authority under the proposals before us would be "Union Now" would have absolute power over the people in the union. It is not difficult to imagine the ghastly result for our country.

And it should be borne in mind that with the loss of effective sovereignty by the people democracy would cease to exist. What is more, the British Empire would cease to exist and the crown, the symbol of a great empire of free and sovereign people, would have no meaning.

Yet there are misguided and well intentioned men and women in our own country supporting this "Union Now" and the central authority in order after the war and as the peace aim of the democracies. They do not seem to realize that in doing so they are suggesting that we are fighting to abolish democracy, to destroy the British Empire and abolish the British crown. This we cannot permit under any circumstances. It would be an intolerable situation. Thus we can discern in the gathering darkness of civilization, the sinister glow of the red light of Universal Paganism, as the forces of evil seek to enslave humanity under a world tyranny.

Unless the people awake to the peril of the situation and insist on the essential democratic reforms of our monetary system being carried out before it is too late, they will be invited to the disaster which is looming.

May God help us to understand the vision.

Students At Work

TORONTO.—(CDN)—Fifteen thousand students and teachers have been placed on Ontario farms and orchards to assist farmers in various crops, department of labor officials announced Friday.

One Acre a Day

There is perhaps no better illustration of co-operation between industry and the people is there than that of the implement industry and farming.

Its inception was the making available to other farmers the tools which one ingenious farmer developed to lighten his own labors and enable him to accomplish more in the always-too-short seasons.

Its support by farmers to the point which has enabled the building of organizations financially strong enough and technically equipped to carry on large scale experimental engineering has increased its efficiency and usefulness to the benefit of every farmer.

In the implement engineer, the farmer has had a partner ever intent on finding solutions more profitable ways of doing the jobs he has to do. The co-operation of the implement maker, in this respect, has transformed farming and made farm life pleasanter and more profitable—a co-operation that really counts.

Naval Veterans Aid Britain In Hour Of Danger

By WILLIAM STEWART

LONDON, Aug. 8.—(CP)—The Royal Navy, stretched across the Atlantic to hold together Britain's life-line to America, is getting a hand from its grizzled, old seafarers.

These old-timers have seen Britain through other dark times. They have come out of well-earned retirement stirred by the knowledge of her need in the big battle of the Atlantic and, perhaps, too, by the chaf of inaction.

Doing landlubbers' work at all, they put their experience behind industrial crews that keep the navy's ships in tip-top fighting trim. Others are back at sea on patrol duty and a day's work means the roll of a ship.

RETURN TO DUTY

The story of their return to active duty is told today in navy record books.

The books tell of a 70-year-old, the chief engineer of a patrol boat. Before he retired he had been with the navy for almost 30 years—from 1902 to 1931.

During the First Great War, he served on a minesweeper. When this war broke out, he petitioned the navy until he was taken back. He went aboard the patrol ship early in February last year. He has been at sea ever since.

PATROL BOAT ENGINEER

In the books, too, is the record of another, 64 years old. From 1887 until 1901 he was with the Royal Marine. In the Royal Naval Reserve from 1911 to 1931, he served through the First Great War. He also is a patrol ship's chief engineer, returned to duty in January last year.

Since they have been on duty, neither of the two men has had a day's leave.

The books tell of others. The navy has 27 men who are more than 80. There are nearly 400 more than 45 and 75.

Chicago Donations

OTTAWA, Aug. 8.—(CP)—Chicago citizens have donated about 250,000 magazines and 20,000 books to be distributed to men of the Royal Canadian Navy, the Canadian Army and the Royal Canadian Air Force, defence headquarters said Friday.

He is now going into retirement, having passed the retirement age of 65, but will serve in an honorary capacity, aiding in the training of new keepers. Stacey is shown here with two of his charges, a cockatoo and a parrot. Many of his birds would perform tricks for him to the great delight of the visitors who frequented the zoo's bird section. Stacey was born on the English estate of the Duke of Wellington. His grandfather was the "Iron Duke's" body sergeant at Waterloo.

Strip Strike In Columbus

Like an army of angry amazons, striking and non-striking women employees of the Timken Company in Columbus, Ohio, go at it tooth and nail outside the roller-bearing plant. That more than tempers were lost is shown by this picture of an unlucky non-striker, center, her skirt torn off by irate pickets. Note policeman rushing in at right and umbrellas, apparently ready, in hand of woman in foreground.

Now under way at Fort Devens, Ayer, Mass., is new type of training, that of teaching men to swim with full packs and in full uniform. Pack, carried on soldier's back, weighs 80 pounds. First to receive training are men of 1st Medical Battalion, shown above, who will teach others later. Such training will eliminate drownings in landing manoeuvres.

New Sea Hornet

The U.S.S. Corry, latest addition to the U.S. navy's destroyer fleet, is shown entering the water at her launching from the Charleston Navy Yard. This is the second destroyer to be named in honor of Lieut. Commander William Merrill Corry, navy hero killed at Hartford, Conn., in 1920 while attempting to rescue a companion from a burning plane. The first U.S.S. Corry was scrapped during the post-war disarmament program.

U. S. navy patrol boats and a navy oil tanker are shown tied up amid the ice cakes at the American base established in Greenland by the first U. S. forces landed to make good the American government's promise to protect that land. In foreground are some of the soldiers who participated in the occupational operation. They are shown at the rail of their transport.

TODAY'S MESSAGE

By Reverend J. Gordon Brown, M.A., B.D.
Robertson United Church, Edmonton

"The Call of the Hills"

"I will lift up mine eyes to the hills"

THE call of the hills is strong at holiday time and many folk are turning to the mountains for rest and relaxation and refreshment. They feel the need of the uplift and inspiration which the unbroken beauty and seeming changelessness of the mountains bring. They are calm and strong these hills, and have a way of forcing one who is among them of thinking of them. They possess the faculty of ruling the mind. No wonder that of many a man it may be said:

"In the mountains did he feel his faith and there his spirit shaped her prospects."

Apparently it was so with the Psalmist for we see him turning resolutely from a moment of heaviness and despair to an attitude of high resolve and renewed trust in the influence of the mountains around him. Certainly it was so with Jesus. How often he sought the "brightest and most wonderful places" about Jerusalem could tell. When the fretful fever and crushing care of the world had drained his spiritual resources, we read that he withdrew into the mountains. It was on the mountain top that he was transfigured before his disciples, and it was from a mountain that he spoke his greatest word:

"But the secret of gaining the strength and peace of the mountain is to find there and know the fellowship of 'Him who saith that the mountains.'" It was because Jesus and God in the hills that he found rest and renewal; there; and it is only from those Eternal Sources which are penetrated in hours of Divine Communion, that we shall derive the peace which we so sorely need in our life of stress and strain. And not only will we gain peace,

"A breath like breath of him."

"That healing breath and holy calm."

but illumination of the path along which we are to walk and inspiration for the service we are to render in the redemption of our age.

British Heroes Of Libya Drive Receive Awards

LONDON, Aug. 8.—(CP)—Heroes of British soldiers during Britain's victorious drive in Africa has been described in a London Gazette which announced awards for bravery.

Foremost among the decorations was the Distinguished Service Order awarded to Lieut. James Cochran of the Queen's Own Cameron Highlanders who attacked and destroyed two machine guns single-handed during the advance on Sidi Barrani. He also killed 13 Italians and put their guns out of action with hand grenades.

GREAT BRITAIN

The Gazette said Lieut. Cochran was ordered to lead his platoon in the capture of a ridge which would provide suitable observation posts for artillery forward and observing officers. Although the hill was held by strong Italian and German troops, the platoon captured the objective and held the position in the face of strong counter attacks and heavy bombardment by mountain artillery until reinforcements arrived.

A bat to the military Cross was awarded Lieut. Charles Llewellyn of the Royal Armoured Corps (Hussars) who led a bold tank attack on the Italian position of Pula Gharra under heavy machine gun, anti-tank and mortar fire. He was severely wounded but continued to lead the assault of his tank because he was the only tank left in the line. He was awarded the Military Cross for his gallantry.

LEADS MAY ATTACK

The attack was one of many in the western desert during the past few days. Previously, while patrolling a road north of Capuzzo he was ordered to lead a platoon in the withdrawal of an important outpost and later when two German tanks were seen he led a German infantry platoon to attack them. He was awarded the Military Cross for his gallantry.

The official announcement said and powers of endurance" when his company successfully captured a hill and held a position at any cost. His action resulted in the capture of the hill and the destruction of the enemy's position.

Major Reid's initiative was partly responsible for the capture of the hill at Keren, the Gazette said. He led his battalion against three fortified positions and although the unit lost all British officers and the Major himself suffered a wound in the arm he refused to leave the battlefield until the assaults had been completely successful.

Take Care of Your Eyes By Jackson Bros. Optometrist

Every eye knows the importance of keeping a machine in order. The human eye is a miraculously acute mechanism which cannot be replaced when it runs down. Who can replace the missing parts, or start a machine running in motion when nature has released her hand?

When we think of the great dependence placed upon our eyes, and the great work they perform in the human eye, it is not surprising, the least we can do is look after them, by relieving them of any strain due to eye defects. Over ninety-five per cent of eye defects can be corrected by the proper use of glasses, or through muscular treatments.

Have your registered Optometrist give your eyes a thorough eyeight examination. This is positively the only means whereby you can ascertain the true value of your eyes. He will tell you if you have any eye defects. If you require glasses, you may have the use of them while paying for them, by using our well established easy pay plan, in weekly or monthly payments.

He added that the R.C.A.F. officers were equally pleased with the marvelous facilities of the plant provided for the troops, and the excellent defense. They spoke enthusiastically of the fine lines and gardens in the grounds, and remarked that these would be preserved, and if possible moved, during the period of occupation.

Premises Are Purchased For Poultry Board

Carrying forward its sound policy of assisting farm producers toward improved marketing conditions for their products, the provincial government has purchased for the use of the Alberta Poultry Producers' Marketing Board, the premises and facilities of H. Wainberg and Company, Limited, at Edmonton and 23 country plots. It was announced Saturday by Hon. Norman Macdonald, provincial treasurer. The purchase price was not disclosed.

The Edmonton premises include a fully-modern three-story building, situated on trackway, with cold storage facilities, and completely equipped in carry on all operations in connection with the storage, handling and marketing of eggs, live and dressed poultry, said Mr. Macdonald.

ESTABLISHED TRADE

In taking over this established business, the Alberta Poultry Producers Marketing Board will at once be in a position to engage in poultry marketing operations on an important scale and to service under the auspices of the board the many former customers of the Wainberg firm. The poultry marketing plans approved by the producers last fall, contemplated handling all of the poultry products of the province through the board now established.

BETTER METHODS

"The government is hopeful that the Poultry Producers Marketing Board, by carrying out its policy, will bring about an improvement in marketing methods for the important farm products of the province, and that this will result in better returns to the producers, and at the same time will protect the public interest by providing poultry products at prices in reasonable relation to the cost of production," said Mr. Macdonald.

C. B. Christensen is chairman of the board. Other members are K. A. Kasper, Sutherland S. Roppel, Brockford, A. J. Riss, Wetaskiwin, and C. W. Travers, provincial poultry commissioner.

Getting Around with JOHN OLIVER

WENDING his way through the legislative corridors Friday while Premier William Aberhart and his cabinet ministers were discussing re-funding of the public debt with representatives of the money barons and financial tycoons, this observer came upon a figure, for many years familiar in those parts, and throughout this province. For a split second it seemed strange that he was not attending the conference in progress in the council chamber, for as for 14 years, he had been a member of the cabinet. Then came the realization that "time marches on" and that he was no longer an executive councillor, nor a resident of this province.

The familiar figure was none other than that of George Howard, minister of health and agriculture in the United Farmers of Alberta government. He was wearing a Panama instead of the deerstalker he had worn when he was first in the cabinet. He was pulled down as he used to be. Otherwise he appeared as he did up until the 1935 general election, when the U.F.A. was ousted and he was ousted with it.

Wonderful progress has been made in transforming the Edmonton Exhibition Association's building into a depot for the Royal Canadian Air Force, said Acting Mayor R. A. Blair Peterson stated Saturday on Friday Mr. Peterson and City Commissioner John Hodgson inspected the grounds and building on the invitation of Wing Commander J. C. Malone, R.C.A.F. officer commanding No. 3 military depot here.

"I was delighted with the progress being made and with the splendid quarters that are being given to the troops," stated Mr. Peterson.

He added that the R.C.A.F. officers were equally pleased with the marvelous facilities of the plant provided for the troops, and the excellent defense. They spoke enthusiastically of the fine lines and gardens in the grounds, and remarked that these would be preserved, and if possible moved, during the period of occupation.

This is The Victory

By Nellie McClung

The British are the happiest people in Europe today. They have unity, a good conscience, hope for the future, and confidence in their leaders. They love their country and cherish its traditions, its literature, folklore and songs. British writers have glorified the village street, the commons, where the typists pluck their lilies, the moors and mountains, the thatched cottages no less than the manor house.

Even now, in their deadly peril, the British are free from fear and free from doubt. They know they are going to win. Letters from friends tell of almost happy gatherings in air-raid shelters, where many activities are going on, and all class lines are forgotten. Here is a story of a village.

Nellie McClung Church Union which concerns the construction of a theatre built from the wreckage of a twice bombed Roman Catholic church. The work of salvage was done by the Quakers, and the theatre was built in the garden of the Central Baptist Mission in East London. The priest of the destroyed church, Father Andrew, wrote and spoke the prologue, a Jewish rabbi gave the blessing and the dedication was given by the pastor of the mission, Rev. Devereux Clifford. The prologue began: "There lives a Beauty that I cannot kill. Yes, that shall kill all ugliness at last."

Christ in love, white, fragile, moves still. Amongst us. Mold that faith and kind it fast. Sweetly in shattered streets the Spring awakes. And common cause makes comrades of us all. And they shall reap in joy who sowed in tears. Fair things shall fairer rise that seemed to fall. The poem goes on to speak of the birds singing blithely in the ruins, and so in the midst of "where still may be peace in the soul."

COMMON CAUSE

"Common cause makes comrades of us all." That line has in it the keynote of British strength. Hitler's strategy to confuse, then divide, then conquer, did not get to first base with the British, and the clarity of mind in their leaders, people as well as in the common people, was about the only thing the British, like Atlas, are holding on to in their adversity.

I have before me a list of the churches destroyed in London by the bombs. It is a long list, and in this connection it is interesting to read what one of the great German philosophers wrote a hundred years ago on the German attitude to Christianity. Here is the quotation from Heinrich Heine's "History of Philosophy in Germany": "The Germans have an eagerness for battle.... Christianity subdued to a certain extent the brutal superiority of the Germans, but did not entirely subdue them, and when the Cross falls to pieces there will break forth that frantic rage which the northern people have sung so much.... Thor with his giant hammer will rise again and he shall shatter the Gothic cathedral."

WHERE KNIGHT

So there it is written a hundred years ago. Christianity with its doctrine of brotherly love and justice, has no place in the life of the Nazis, even though Hitler was ready once to proclaim himself the White Knight of Christianity who would lead on God's Russia! But that bit of strategy failed no one.

What has happened to German character is not hard to understand if we remember that it is easier to slip back into barbarism than to go forward to a higher civilization. When Germany began to attack the Christian church there was set up what they called the "German Faith Movement" whose proclamation began with these words: "The Cross must fall to make Germany live. The Christian religion must be destroyed. Jesus is the enemy of all Germany. Adolf Hitler is the true Holy Ghost." Pastor Niemöller protested these blasphemies and was sent to a concentration camp with many others. There were many Christians in Germany then, many of whom are now dead or in prison or gagged into silence. But the love of truth lives on, even in concentration camps.

The battle which Britain and her allies with the magnificent help of the United States, is waging so successfully is far less a war of mankind. In the last 75 years Germany has planned the world into many lanes. They believe that war is the highest human experience, that it is not only heroic and romantic, but creative, and each time they have gone to war with the cry that they are the liberators, they have been living space. And by that they do not merely mean room, but domination as well. As we go along to let them do it again in another quarter of a century? This is a question that many people are pondering.

FAMILY OF NATIONS

When the war is over and won we will be faced with the problem of what to do with Germany. Among our own people we will have two types of mind to deal with, the too-hard and the too-soft. The too-hard will want to exterminate all Germans, remembering the battle dealing with the conquered peoples. The too-soft will talk of the German arts and sciences, medicine, music and philosophy. I believe we will have but one mind on the matter of the leaders, for there will be no villa on the island of St. Helena, no peaceful woods at Doorn. But I am thinking of delivery.

ing of the German people and how we can get them back into the family of nations. I wish everyone would read "Teaching For the Slave" by Nora Wahl, and all of Beauchamp's books, as well as "Berlin Diary" by William L. Shirer. These give a picture of the hopeless confusion into which the German nation has fallen and the strange theories of moral areas which we have been accustomed to connect with all humanity. The Germans now are said to be apathetic, listless and depressed, fearful of defeat, knowing that they have incurred the hatred of all their neighbors. What have we to give this degraded and degraded nation, who have lost not only their sense of direction, but control of their children and the ordering of their own lives?

SPARK OF REVENGE

The spirit of revenge would reply: "Let us give them their own medicine, fire and sword and concentration camps, robbery and pillage, let us beat the furnace seven times hotter. That's the only thing they will understand."

Christ came to a world of wicked and cruel as Nazi Germany is today. He was one young man, a carpenter by trade without money or influence, born in a despised little village, one young man with an idea, and not a popular idea either. The people of His time, like the Germans, believed in blood and iron: their own iron and other nation's blood, and yet this one young man put His mark on that generation. The common people heard him gladly. He fed the hungry, healed the sick, and taught all of them, and though there was no record kept of His sayings except in the hearts of His followers, His words are better known today than they were on the day of their utterance. His words: His ways. His teachings are the hope of Nazi Germany today just as they are our hope. No other system of philosophy or reasoning has the power to change hearts and minds must be changed if the world is ever to have peace, and human beings liberty. Improvement is not enough, we must have redemption.

FALSE GODS

The Germans must throw away their false gods and their false book of rules. The story must be replaced by the heart of truth. But how are we going to begin? Any army of occupation will have to take charge in Germany, but not just a force of armed men. Not that alone, but everyone of them must be a missionary. We have great spiritual forces in the democratic countries, great men and women who know and practise the presence of God, who know the creative power of God. We must send them.

I know a religious faith cannot be forced on people that has been tried and proven a failure. But Christianity can be demonstrated. It is something which can be taught, one from the other. I quote again from Father Andrew's prologue: "To wage a spiritual war with fears and hate. To break the rule of mad material men. Restore to love and liberty their souls. And bring all banished Beauty back to the world again." This is victory.

TOOTH BRUSHES with Nylon Bristles

Chas. Godkin in Drawing Face Your fashion drawings published, bringing you good pay. Skeptical friends or relatives may doubt you could get so far by teaching your art to draw—a pretty face, vague about figures, practicing with cartoonish charts gives you an encouraging start. To draw a girl's head in profile, first rule a square and cut in in half vertically. Note in our diagram how the girl's eye is drawn right on this line. Square in vertically—where the jaw begins—and place the ear just behind this line. Here's another trick. The base of the head is on a level with the base of the skull. You can draw another horizontal, almost half-way below the first one, to guide you. Just this simple type of guide line helps you block in graceful figures. Now, you make them about eight heads high, place the waistline almost three heads down from top of head.
